LANDCO CONSTRUCTION ADDS JOSEPH LANDOLT AS PROJECT MANAGER

St. Louis, MO (May 24, 2011) – LANDCO Construction recently added Joseph Landolt to its project management team. Joe will be responsible for estimating and managing interior construction projects for LANDCO’s corporate clients.

Joe received a Bachelor of Science in Marketing from Maryville University in 2006, and brings with him six years of experience in project management, including his position as a Transaction Manager with Cassidy Turley, where he managed between 60 and 80 nationwide projects simultaneously, with responsibilities including site selection, lease negotiation, construction management and facility management.

Founded in 2001 by President and CEO Ron Landolt, LANDCO Construction provides pre-construction, interior construction, and construction management services. After its first year in business, LANDCO was recognized by the International Facility Management Association as “Outstanding Company of the Year” and more recently received the American Subcontractor Association’s “General Contractor of the Year Award” in 2009 and 2011. LANDCO’s corporate clients include leaders in the St. Louis business community like Edward Jones, Enterprise Holdings, Mercy Medical, Maritz, M & I Bank, Wells Fargo, Scottrade, Schnucks, and Savvis.
